A Little of Everything.

"Our Jim" December 17. School vacation next week. County Institute next week. Rogers-Grilley to-morrow evening. Did you hear the wind blow Monday night? A fierce wind howled around this section Monday night. The January term of court begins Monday, Jan. 13th. Argument court was held at Brookville the first of this week. "Our Jim," a delightful touch of nature, at the opera house Tuesday, Dec. 17th. Soon time for candidates for the borough election in February to be looming up. Some of the thermometers in this place registered five degrees below zero last Friday morning. Fannie Hill's Female Minstrels at the Reynolds opera house Tuesday evening, December 24th. Judge John W. Reed, of this county, was over at Clearfield last week assisting Judge Gordon in holding court. Sutter's dry goods store was closed Friday forenoon on account of the funeral of Philip Sutter, brother of J. J. Sutter. Some of the young ladies of this place have gone to Brookville to accept positions as weavers in the woolen mill at that place. Constable George Warnick took John Elenberger and his wife and four children, of Prescottville, to the poor farm last Friday. The True Blue Temperance Union will produce for the first time, "Our Jim," at the opera house Tuesday, Dec. 17. Prices 15, 25 and 35 cents. Good prizes for the best marksmanship are being given by A. B. Brown at the shooting gallery in the basement of the Syndicate building, Main Street. William J. Weaver, Past Commander of the Ancient and Illustrious Order of Knights of Malta in this place, has been commissioned Deputy Grand Commander in Jefferson county. Dr. Frank H. Murdock, of Pittsburg, a specialist in stomach trouble, was called here last week to see Miss Belle Robinson, at suggestion of Dr. J. B. Neale, attending physician.

"Our Jim" is the title of a play to be presented in the Reynolds opera house on Tuesday evening of next week by home talent. Mrs. Frank P. Adelsperger, who was in the Adrian hospital eight weeks for treatment, returned to her home in this place last Thursday. Six insane persons who have been kept in the Warren Asylum were recently moved from that institution by Commissioners Murray and Hawk to the county home at Brookville. Rogers-Grilley recitals, the second number on the public school lecture course, will be given in Assembly hall on Thursday evening of this week, December 12. Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store. A small steam engine in one of the display windows of Hoffman's jewelry store—the handwork of C. F. and James Hoffman—is quite an attraction. It is a tiny engine but it makes a sewing machine spin around. Mazomania Tribe, No. 341, Improved Order of Red Men of this place, will attend the Presbyterian church in a body Sunday morning, December 22, 1901, and Rev. W. Frank Reber, pastor of the church, will preach a special sermon for them. A live Santa Claus in one of the display windows of Breakey's racket store Saturday afternoon was quite an attraction for boys and girls, and a large number of older people stopped to take a look at Santa, who was busily at work fixing Christmas toys. J. J. Sutter was called to Canoe township, Indiana county, last week to attend the funeral of his oldest brother, Phillip Sutter, who died Wednesday morning, December 4, 1901, and was buried Friday. Deceased was 71 years old the 6th of last October. Last Thursday morning Prof. G. W. Lenker received a telegram to the effect that the Zielski Trio Club, of Buffalo, N. Gibson, Mead Lucas and his father, and James Berry, in Boubah, and Jeremiah Myers and wife, and Craig Reynolds, in the Reynoldsville cemetery. Arthur H. Haskins, the young composer of this place, handed us a copy yesterday of his latest song, "Don't Leave Old Kentucky." Arthur is gaining quite a reputation as a composer. The new song, which is a fine one, is on sale at J. P. Haskins' music store on Main street. On account of a break in the machinery at electric light plant the street lights have not been on for a few nights, and it makes quite a difference these dark nights. The new dynamo will be here about the middle of the month and when that is in operation there will be less trouble with the street lights. Dr. B. F. Shires, who was located in Rathmel several years, has packed his medicine case and gone to Patton, Pa., to locate. Dr. Shires had a good practice at Rathmel and was well liked, but his new location gives him a larger field for practice. Doctor served one term as a member of the Winslow township school board. Frank A. McConnell is having a hot air heater put in the pavilion in Frank's Park, so pavilion can be used in winter same as summer. Mr. McConnell would have had the heater in before this time had it not been that a large amount of furniture, &c., taken out of buildings during the recent conflagration were stored in the pavilion. "Mother" Jones, the labor organizer, who was to have delivered an address in Centennial hall last Friday evening, was called to Old Virginia on account of labor troubles there and could not come to this place. Thomas Haggerty said to representative of THE STAR that he expected to arrange to have "Mother" Jones come to Reynoldsville the latter part of this month. The Summerville Telephone Company's new system is now in working order at this place and it is away ahead of the old system. You can talk over the line now and hear the other fellow very distinctly. Convention To-morrow. A convention of the miners of sub-district No. 5, of the United Mine Workers of America, of which Edward L. Moore, of Rathmel, is president, will be held in DuBois to-morrow, December 12. Died Suddenly. Mrs. Fike, of Sykesville, mother of Norman Fike, who was killed at the Sykesville shaft about three weeks ago, died very suddenly on Monday morning, December 9, 1901. As she was returning from milking she fell unconscious near the porch and did not become conscious again. Heart failure was the cause of her death. Coal Right Deal. Elisha Cox, a Washington township farmer, has traded the coal right under his farm to Adam and G. W. Miller, bankers of Big Run, for $3,000 worth of property on Jackson street, Reynoldsville, and Broad street, West Reynoldsville. Mr. Cox also got $200 in cash. The deal was closed last week. There is a 44 foot vein of coal on the Cox farm. Elisha will not move to town, but will continue to farm the surface of the land. School Vacations. On account of the teachers' institute in Brookville next week, all the public schools in Jefferson county will take a vacation. In West Reynoldsville and Winslow township the vacation will last two weeks, but in Reynoldsville there will be only one week of vacation. There will not be any school Christmas day, but there will be school all that week except Christmas. The delay in getting school started is the reason of the short vacation. Female Arrested for Drunkenness. Sunday when Constable John H. Null, of Sykesville, was on his way home from Reynoldsville, after having lodged four Italians in the lock-up for violating the Sunday law, he found a girl lying in the ditch on the roadside near Big Soldier dead drunk. He had to turn around and load her into his hack and bring her to the Reynoldsville lock-up. About 9:00 p. m. Sunday a Reynoldsville citizen bailed her out and Monday afternoon she had a hearing before Squire Neff, who imposed a small fine and costs on her. Rev. Murray's Lecture. Rev. W. P. Murray, a bright and able Methodist preacher from Dunkirk, N. Y., lectured in Assembly hall Monday evening on "Growth of Young." E. church in this place one year, nine years ago, and after the lecture he had no trouble while shaking hands with the people in recalling the names of a number of those with whom he became acquainted during his short pastorate here. Arrested for Shooting on Sunday. Sunday forenoon Constable John H. Null, of Sykesville, arrested four Italians for shooting on Sunday. Mr. Null arrested the four men himself and had to keep his revolver in his hand to keep them together to march them into Big Soldier. They were brought to this place and put in the lock up until Monday, when they had a hearing before Squire E. Neff. There were nine shots fired and the four Italians all swore that one of the party, John Fallon, did the shooting. Large Pine Tree. A large pine tree was cut in McDonald's camp, near Falls Creek, last week that scaled 9,610 feet. The average tree scales about 750 feet. This tree was cut into nine logs. Rogers & Grilley was the most entertaining of its kind ever given in the city, and both are artists in their particular line. The combination of impersonator and harpist for an evening's enjoyment was decidedly an unusual occurrence in New Britain, but it was certainly an agreeable commingling of pleasure that would satisfy the most exacting. The entertainers were greeted at the conclusion of every selection with unstinted applause, and encores were pleasantly responded to. It is desired that all citizens attend. Committee." The call for the meeting was issued by a dozen stockholders of the silk mill, whose object was to have a committee appointed to visit some other silk mill plants in the state to find what wages are being paid elsewhere, but the committee was not appointed, in fact there was no business of importance transacted.
